Charles Dickens' Advice to his Son.

I exhort you to persevere in a thorough determination to do whatever you have to do as well as you can do it. I was not so old as you are now when I first had to win my food, and to do it out of this determination; and I have never slackened in it since. Never take a mean advantage of any one in any transaction, and never be hard upon people in your power. Try to do to others as you would have them to do to you, and do not be discouraged if they fail sometimes. It is much better for you if they should fail in obeying the greatest rule laid down by our Savior than that you should. I put a New Testament among your books for the very same reasons, and with the very same hopes that made me write an easy account of it for you when you were a little child. Because it is the best book that ever was, or will be, known in the world; and because it teaches you the best lessons by which any human creature, who tries to be truthful and faithful to duty, can possibly be guided. As your brothers have gone away, one by one, I have written to each such words as I am now writing to you, and have entreated them to guide themselves by this Book, putting aside the interpretations and inventions of man. You will remember that you have never at home been harassed about religious observances; or mere formalities. I have always been anxious not to weary my children with such things before they are old enough to form opinions respecting them. You will, therefore, understand the better that I now most solemnly impress upon you the truth and beauty of the Christian religion, as it came from Christ himself, and the impossibility of your going far wrong if you humbly but heartily respect it. The more we are in earnest as to feeling about it, the less we are disposed to hold forth about it. Never abandon the wholesome practice of saying your own private prayers night and morning. I have never abandoned it myself, and I know the comfort of it. I hope you will always be able to say in after life that you had a kind father. You cannot show your affection to him as well, or make him so happy as by so doing.—Foster's Life of Dickens.

Annual Report of the C. P. R. R. Co.

The annual report of the Directors of the Central Pacific Railroad Company for the year 1873 has been printed. It bears date July 14, 1874.

THE FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE COMPANY.

Mr. Stanford, the President of the Company, reports the financial condition of the Company to be as follows: Capital stock (authorized), $100,000,000; capital stock subscribed, $62,608,800; capital stock paid in, $54,275,500; subscribed and held in trust for the company, $8,333,300.

The indebtedness of the company is as follows: Funded debt, less sinking fund, $53,248,268 30; United States Subsidy bonds, $27,885,680: total, $81,133,948 30. The assets are as follows: 1,219 miles main line of railroad and telegraph, sidings, wharves, deposits, steam ferries, etc., $181,419,110 53; equipments, real estate for use of road, telegraph instruments and material on hand, $9,960,029 33; Sacramento river steamers (cost) $853,569 11; balance of accounts outstanding after deducting obligations, $1,666,787 24; farming lands—estimated value, $29,306,000. Undivided half 50 acres land in Mission Bay, in San Francisco; 500 acres water front at Oakland, about 140 acres water front at Sacramento—estimated value, independent of improvements, $7,750,000: cash, $1,584,661 71; total, $182,540,158 32.

INCREASE OF BUSINESS.

The anticipations in the annual report for 1872, in relation to increase of business, have been realized, and we may expect as much greater increase for the year 1874. The increase of population of the State by immigration during the year 1873 was 34,000; this year it promises to be much greater. The harvest is abundant, and unusual prosperity prevails throughout the State.

An Irishman's Letter.

Here is an Irish gentleman's letter to his son in college: "My dear son: I write to send you two pair of my old breeches, that you may have a new coat made out of them. Also, some new socks which your mother has just knit by cutting down some of mine. Your mother sends you ten dollars without my knowledge, and for fear you may not use it wisely, I have kept back half, and only send you five. Your mother and I are well, except that your sister has has got the measles, which we think would spread among the other girls if Tom had not had it before, and he is the only one left. I hope you will do honor to my teachings; if not you are an ass, and your mother and myself your affectionate parents.

PROF. CARR'S CASE.

The Post's hostility to the President of the University must be taken into consideration, but there is still cause for belief that there is a serious attempt being made to get Prof. Carr out of the way. The Post says that if it had not been for a certain Granger in the Board of Regents, the scheme would have succeed ere this. That paper asserts that the appointment of eight lecturers, as announced some days ago, is destined to effect the same end—the dropping of Carr from the regular Faculty, and reducing him, we suppose, to practically nothing at all in connection with the concern.

Now, whatever truth there may be in all this, we shall earnestly protest against any movement that would displace Prof. Carr from the position he is so well fitted to occupy. It is possible that Prof. Carr does not put on collegiate airs sufficient to satisfy some parties; has not enough of the peacock generally to suit certain ones connected with the University in this or that capacity, but whatever they may think about it, or desire, it were better for them to go slow in this matter. The next thing we may expect to hear is that the Le Contes are singled out for removal. It is to be hoped that the University will not be embarrassed, if not endangered, on the score of personal prejudices and spite. If a single Granger in the Board of Regents can exert the influence attributed by the Post, it were best for the enemies of Prof. Carr to beware the next legislature. There is more in this than may at first appear. It is a game that two can play at.

BALLOONATICS GALORE.

There is more than enough of those Woodward's Garden balloon ascensions. We protest against any more for the season. It never exactly occurred to us till this morning, that there is a conspiracy between the newspapers and the Gardens. The Call contains the account of another reportorial galloot on the ascend—ascending in a balloon from the aforesaid Gardens. This makes seventeen newspaper accounts of trips made this year by San Francisco reporters, and the thing has got to be stopped. There is not the least excuse for such experiments on the part of any reporter in San Francisco. What they don't know in their normal condition about gas and wind, is scarcely worth calculating. Perhaps Buislay & Co. take them along regularly as a sort of life-preserver; for instance, if the balloon should collapse, there would still be gas-bags kicking around sufficient to hold on to for an indefinite period. It is possible that the average San Francisco reporter was not made in vain.

HOW EASY IT IS.

A couple of damaging water-spouts occurring so close upon each other, and also upon the disappearance of the comet, has afforded the newspaper idiot a theme. He was just as certain to find out the cause of those sudden water falls, as that water runs down hill. It is as easy as the flow of ink from an old-fashioned full-grown goose quill.

The comet is to blame for it all. The conformation of the earth at these unfortunate localities, in connection with certain conditions of the atmosphere, could not produce a water-spout, you know, without the assistance of a wandering comet. That fiery monster left a hot vacuum that all the elements are busy at work trying to cool off or drown out of our mundane arrangement—hence these tears. Hence this vast flow of ink, for which we pray that a special comet may be provided at an early day. Let it bring its trunk.

THE Sacramento Record gives currency to a report that the ferry boats soon to be constructed by the railroad company will be used to convey passenger trains from Oakland to San Francisco. The report seems improbable.—News.

There is nothing improbable about it. It is a very reasonable business proposition. The TIMES announced this intention on the part of the railroad company six weeks ago. The News man has a very limited vision on the plainest proposition in the world.

DENNIS HEARD FROM.

"That Court House" has brought our long lost Jordan to light. If the "D. J." of the Transcript this morning, be not our only and beloved Dennis Jordan, of knot-hole fame, then who the devil is it? 'Tis he, by all the gods at once! We had engaged Detective Rand to scent him out, but alas, it needed no police assistance to bring Dennis to the front, when plans, specifications and estimates are on the tapis.

The Transcript having announced its intention to overhaul the entire Court house and jail business—tear it all up root and branch—its columns are taken advantage of by every sorehead contractor and would-be superintendent of construction, and now we may look for a regular water-spout—a main sewer—of untimely fault-finding.

It comes with bad grace indeed for Mr. Jordan to put in his lip in this Court-house matter at this late day, after his fiasco on the sewer question. He says:

I took especial care to ascertain the cost of the different materials called for in the specifications, and among the rest was a large item for cut stone.

What a great pity you didn't take "especial care to ascertain" about those knot-holes you were so anxious to furnish the great sewer with.

You were so innocent on the Court-house bidding, as not to be aware. For instance:

In fact, had I been more fully aware that the job was put up for Babcock, I would not have spent my time in figuring at all.

Just think of Dennis losing so much time figuring! It is almost as bad as the editor of the News fooling away his time on local option law. It is "by no means satisfactory"—to Dennis. We can imagine nothing more distressing, except the condition of the Transcript. The best thing the editor of that paper can do, is to return to the springs.

As for Mr. Jordan, he had better take his little carpet-bag full of knot-holes and crawl into them and remain there for the remainder of th season.

By the way, now that we have got track of the party who contracted to build a main sewer for the city of Oakland, would it not be well for the City Attorney to cause his arrest for nonfulfillment of a most important obligation? Let him show cause according to the specifications. After this, it might be in place for him to talk about Court-house jobs. That's about the size of it.

DOCTORS IN FRANCE.

There are in France cities of 15,000 inhabitants which have not a single physician; there are cities of 20,000 inhabitants which have but one physician, and he not a graduate of a medical school. There is always posted in the arcade of the Paris medical school the names of fifteen or twenty towns or villages which have no physician, and wish one. Lille is a city with a population of 200,000 souls; it contains only forty-three physicians. Roubaix is a city of 76,000 souls; it contains only eight physicians. The counties in which there are fewest physicians are the counties in which the per centum of mortality is highest.—Exchange.

The tide of emigration needs turning very much. The Pacific Coast is literally plastered with pill-peddler's signs. They have been accumulating more rapidly since the overland railroad was completed, and there was an abundance before that time.

Oakland claims twenty thousand inhabitants, and there are between seventy-five and one hundred doctors' shingles hung out. According to the above item, there is a fine opening abroad.

ABANDONED THE FIGHT.

The News—the great organ of the local optionists—announced in so many words to-day, that it had given up the case of the crusaders. "Whisky Legislation" has proven too deep a subject for the student from Albany, and he pronounces the business "by no means satisfactory." For months we have been deluged with cold water arguments, and the beautiful proportions of the local option law held up to our admiring gaze with all the colors of the rainbow, and all the fire of the comet. Now, there is none so poor as to do it reverence. It is "by no means satisfactory," says the great oracle on public morality. The mountain has labored all this time and effected so little? Well, it is altogether sad.

It is certainly "by no means satisfactory."

We were afraid all along it would turn out that way.

WE have it from the most authentic source that it was not the comet which caused Tilton to turn tail on his wife and Beecher, but the transit of Venus preyed upon the abnormal condition of his mind to such an extent that his back-bone gave out, his tongue loosened accordingly, and now the telegraph is running to match.

THE San Francisco press contains a gush of sentiment over the frequent maltreatment of Chinese in that delectable burg. The police of that city ought to be turned off and hired over again.

New Photographic Gallery.—Messrs. Dunham & Lathrop's beautiful new Art Gallery, on the west side of Broadway, between 13th and 14th streets, is now open to the public. Every style of work known in the profession, executed in the best manner and at reasonable rates. Our Beverly Cole.

The Alta says he is a member of the staff of Maj-Gen. H. A. Cobb, and the Chronicle that he went to school with Gen. McClellan thirty years ago. This is a good deal for one American to do in a lifetime, and we are not surprised that the Doctor is going to take a rest. He starts for Europe to-morrow by the Panama route. He will be gone a couple of years. Several weeks since the TRIBUNE spoke of this movement, and that the Doctor was fortifying himself with statistics about California, for the purpose of making himself useful while abroad. For all of which he is to be commended.

CITY COUNCIL.

A Flood of Resolutions and Things and Adjourned for Two Weeks.

We sat out the entire evening Loping to hear from Dennis Jordan, or some more interesting conversationalist, but there was nothing to speak of except a dry reading of resolutions about street work, an ordinance to reorganize the fire department and the opening of bids for driving two clusters of piles at the bar on the creek route. What we would all do without a couple of clusters of piles at this stage of the game, it is hard to conceive. It is to be hoped that there will be a lantern hung on each cluster, so that they can be found when wanted. It looked as though there was a little job in these proposed piles. What a curious thing that we can't have two clusters of piles without a job—a little swindle on the city! Such is the abnormal condition of society. Society cannot have two clusters of piles without a certain amount of corruption.

But let us not forget the dear and delightfully entertaining City Council.

The President of the Board of Public Works was heard from last night. The conclusions of that body were to the effect that the best thing to be done about the future supply of water, was to set a man to watch Chabot & Co. erect that San Leandro creek reservoir, and after the said company complete it in a satisfactory manner, the city will think about purchasing the entire property of Chabot & Co. So the City Council acquiesced, and the City Engineer will doubtless keep a scientific eye out for gopher holes and other weak spots in the construction of said dam.

Councilman Mason introduced a measure looking to the purchase of supplies for feeding city prisoners on a different plan than heretofore in vogue. The long and short of it is, the Chief of Police will not hereafter get so much per day per prisoner, but the food will be purchased by the city on the plan of the lowest bidder.

Proposals will be advertised for furnishing the city with certain horse feed for the year—the horses of the fire department requiring something to eat as we go along. A suggestive feature of the proposals was the naming of Oregon oats. What is there about Oregon oats, that compels Californians to go out of their own boasted State for horse feed?

Does Oregon oats tend to make the animals web-footed, that they may be better enabled to fly over our depths of sand in certain portions of the city? Is there more prickle in the grain? Or is it because it rains more in Oregon, that oats from there contain more moisture and consequently better adapted to put out fires? Were this the case, we might dispense with the engines—simply attach the hose to the horse. But the subject is too deep for our comprehension.

The Finance Committee have power to act with respect to the disposition of the bonds providing for the payment of Wetherbee.

In regard to the Creek business, it was finally decided to erect two posts on the marsh, in range with the center line of the channel at the mouth of the creek. The City Marshal will do this, and save the little corner in piles for another time. Why not let the Gas Company erect a couple of lamp posts?

Councilman Everson introduced the ordinance for re-organizing the Fire Department. It proposes a paid department, the Council to determine the amount that officers and members shall receive. The Chief and two assistants are to be elected on the 1st Monday in January, by the Council. The companies to elect their own officers. No person under twenty-one years, or who is not a voter, can become a member of any company or an officer in the department. The Chief and his assistants are to have power to enter any building for the purpose of examining stove-pipes, chimneys, match-boxes, cigar-holders and the like destructives. After the reading of which the Council, which had fallen asleep, was aroused by the City Marshal, and the document referred to the proper committee.

The City Wharfinger reported the receipts of his office for the two weeks ending July 25th, as $253 90.

Taylor & Co.'s bid for 1000 feet of carbolized hose at $1,360, for the use of the Fire Department, was accepted.

Bids were opened for the erection of a windmill on the City Hall grounds—highest, Southwick & Co., $455; lowest, by D. Cotton, $185. Referred.

Bids for city stationery the ensuing year, will be advertised for.

Petition received and referred to macadamize Brush street between Twelfth and Fourteenth.

Petition for plank sidewalks on East Fourteenth street, from Fifteenth to Tenth avenue.

Nineteenth street was declared open between San Pablo and Telegraph avenues, and the same is to be curbed, macadamized, etc.

Petition for curbing, etc., on East Sixteenth street, between Fourth and Ninth avenues, received.

Plank sidewalks on west side of San Pablo avenue from Fifteenth street to Market, are to be provided for in the regular way.

Thirteenth street, on either side of Broadway, needs macadamizing very much, but it seems that this improvement is not likely to be done this season.

The Council ordered the monthly salary bills paid, also the following, and took others into consideration, and adjourned for two weeks:

INDECENT EXPOSURE.

Social Shams—The Old World vs. the New on Some Things as Well as Others.

A public officer in this high-toned burg yesterday arrested a man on Seventh street, near Broadway, on a charge of what is designated in the ordinance as indecent exposure of person.

The poor devil was kept in the prison all night, and hauled up before his honor at the usual hour this morning, when it was ascertained that the man was lately out of a hospital and still suffering with a distressing disease of the bladder. In short, he was, to use a common term, taken short on the sidewalk and there was no help for his doing what he did at the time. The Court so considered the case, and discharged the man from custody.

This does not remind us of a little story so much as it does of a great fact—that the Americans are the most disgusting set of prudes and make-believes on the face of the earth. And to their bodily injury, and great suffering, as well, on a thousand occasions.

It is possible that after we all get rich enough to do "the Continent" of Europe, we will have a change for the better on some important points in every day life, at least. When we are all personally versed in the street life of Paris, for instance, where there is a urinal every half block on the boulevards for people to relieve their bladders and not feel ashamed—such cases as that recorded in our Police Court will never again be heard of. Don't blush, ladies and gentlemen, at the apparent coarseness of the allusion, or we may introduce you into the mysteries of the classic walks of Italy. Take the case of Florence, which Byron says "is the fairest city on the earth." It is morally impossible to go into details, owing to our regard for the proprieties of our so-called superior civilization. Suffice it, then, you had better go there yourself, for seeing is believing.

Paris, or its miniature Brussels, will do. Here is the Mecca of all good Americans, and when we get our cities so completely convenient, life will be more tolerable therein by several degrees. The Anglo-Saxon may be by nature a more pure and noble animal than his neighbors on "the Continent," but when carefully analyzed, he will most likely be found to contain as much of the canine in his composition as the most unaffected Roman of them all.

When the most high-toned and excessively virtuous and godly American shall have fully completed his education—have his daughters all schooled abroad—the eye will not be greeted in every corner with the words — "Commit No Nuisance." The sham veil that a prudish society throws over the affairs of men, will in many important particulars, be thrown aside as useless and extremely silly.

It is not certain but that the Savior had some such notions in his head, when he said "suffer little children," etc. Children, however, are a little too familiar sometimes.

Being a bachelor, it is strange that He ever said it.

LAY SERMONS--NO. 2.

"Charity shall cover a multitude of sins."—1 Pet. iv, 8.

That the generally accepted meaning of this word "Charity"—alms given to the poor—is not the theological, the scriptural one is evident from St. Paul's address to the Corinthians, wherein he makes this statement, "Though I give all my goods to feed the poor and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing (1 Cor. xiii., 3). What then is? Our dictionary suggests to us "kindness, good-will, benevolence—the theological virtue of universal love." Love "that suffereth long and is kind"—that "thinketh no evil", "is not easily provoked," "is not puffed up." This is also corroborated by John (ii., 10) "He that loveth his brother abideth," "He that hateth his brother is in darkness."

Love, then, is the chief characteristic of the Christian, and hate that of the devil. "The child of the devil," exclaims St. John, "is manifest." "Whosoever loveth not his brother" (1 John iii, 10). To apply this text to the affairs of common life: "Shall cover a multitude of sins." The world asserts that hate and not love is the Christian characteristic. "How these Christians hate one another," is a saying of many centuries' standing—our behavior toward each other certainly seems to verify the assertion, and the only reasonable deduction to be drawn from therefrom is that Christians don't believe in the multitude of sins to be covered; that Charity, therefore, is exclusively a sinner belonging to universal hate, during the last month or two, has made it pretty manifest we have been the children of the devil. That we are still "puffed up" is further demonstrated by a desire to commemorate our late election victories. It is not the memory of our victory that we hand down to future generations, but of our defeat and slavery and the victory and triumph of the devil over us. (The erection of a public drinking fountain in Oakland to commemorate the victories of the "no license" party is here alluded to.) Let such a state of things vanish; "let brotherly love" once more prevail. Let the said fountain be erected in commemoration of universal benevolence and love—of our triumph over party spirit and discord and all the other concomitants of the local option law.

Schafer's.

For a good square meal, gotten up in style by the best cooks in Oakland, go to the Philadelphia Restaurant, Broadway near Eleventh street, east side, Mr. Schafer, proprietor.

In parts of Switzerland minors can not use tobacco.

HODGE-PODGE.

Madam Martelle at Brayton Hall.

Not a large audience but a select and appreciative one assembled at Brayton Hall last night to be entertained by the attractive, accomplished and versatile lecturer, Madam Martelle. The programme consisted of vocal and instrumental music, and the delivery of a very sensible and practicable address upon very sensible and practicable topics—Woman and Local Option. The fair lecturer plead earnestly and argumentatively in behalf of her sex in the various avocations of life, and maintained that the progressive spirit of the age, impelled by a universal sentiment of freedom and equality, would accord to woman her true place in the world and the world would be the better for it. She referred in a pleasing way to the Local Option agitation, taking positive ground in favor of temperance, but opposed prohibition as impossible, impracticable and inoperative. The lecture was listened to throughout with attention and appreciation. We are pleased to be able to announce that Madam Martelle will lecture on Thursday evening of this week at Stanford's Hall, West Oakland. If the Point people want to listen to a truly excellent speaker on interesting subjects, they will not hesitate to pay two bits for the privilege of doing so.

PAINT AND VARNISH HOUSES.

The establishment of Messrs. Farwell & Garrigan, dealers in paints, oils, varnishes, brushes, glass, and all the materials needed by painters and sign writers, is the leading house of the kind in Oakland, and the gentlemen composing the firm are workmen of the best class. In sign writing, they have in their employ a man who is simply hard to beat at the business, as his many beautiful signs about town abundantly testify.

There is among the sign writers in Oakland that necessary ambition to excel, which is sure to bring to the surface the best talent. Among the houses employing the best sign writers we mention Messrs. Farwell & Garrigan, Messrs. Campbell & Fallon, J. E. How, Fred. Dunham and P. R. Sheehan. These painters get up the best signs in the city, by odds. A number of these keep on hand painter's materials of all kinds. Besides Messrs. Farwell & Garrigan, Mr. How deals extensively in the ware.

Messrs. Campbell & Fallon are located at the Point, and make a specialty of repairing signs, and make cheap ones. They also do landscape painting and portraits in oil, and all kinds of decorative work. We commend to the attention of the public the painters mentioned above as good workmen and good men.

That Dance.

Another large assemblage was gathered at the dancing school at the Academy of Music last evening. It is quite a pleasure to notice the good, solid sociability of all in attendance. It would be unnecessary to mention the progress of the school, as under the able leadership of Professor Mat. Kennedy, there is no such thing as failure. By way of a suggestion, we might mention that it would be well for the Club, owing to their large membership, to sell only a limited number of visitors' tickets. Their dances are becoming so popular that it is becoming quite crowded for the scholars.

Their manner of conducting the dances is really commendable—allowing no swinging by the waist—giving the affair an air of respectability and refinement.

If anything would go to teach the young men the Terpsichorean accomplishments, it would be the company of some of those handsome and most graceful young ladies usually present. Our fancy was particularly pleased in the exquisite grace of a bewitchingly sweet little miss dressed in green, who was most fascinating in her conversation, and who moved about as fairy-like as those you read about. Taken as a whole, the Live Oak Social Club is a decided success.

City Market Chop House.

The City Market Chop House, formerly kept by Mr. Morse, is now being fitted up by Mr. A. Campbell, of the Oakland Oyster House, who will open it to-morrow as an Oyster and Chop House. The location is a central and good one, and Mr. Campbell knows how to run a restaurant of this kind. The Oakland Restaurant on Seventh street will be continued as now. Both places will be superintended by Mr. Campbell. The re-opening of this City Market house will be good news to many.
